INCIDENTS OF THE AFFRAY. One of the incidents of the scene at the time of the shooting shows that even the most tragic occasions have a humorous side. An old man by the name of Mr. Lathrop has been in the habit of coming into the office every night to read the exchanges. He is a man of medium height, past middle life, and has the uncertain, groping manner, which at once marks a man grown old in the government service. The exchanges are placed on a table n the room back of the one which leads into Mr. Barton's room, but there is a wide enand began to look over the papers. When the Soteldos came in and the reports of the pistols followed each other in rapid succession the old man sat quietly at the table, within twenty feet of the tragedy, evidently unconscious that anything unusual was taking place. Then the younger Soteldo in his struggle with Mr. Barton came rushing past, and the old man, jostled from his seat, was obliged to rise. Still he did not realize what was going on, but gazed about in a vacant manner at the two men, and then seeing Barton he endeavored to attract his attention to some item that had struck his fancy. The men in their deadly struggle pushed past, and as they went wall. The old man quietly resumed his seat, while the contest for life continued down the stairs. He was asked about it afterward and

He has been, it is said, quite lively as a speculator. In person he was tall, finely formed and dark—a veritable Spaniard. His address was polished and easy. He was noted equally for his generosity, which often amounted to rashness, and his vindictive temperament, which generally brewed trouble wherever he was situated. He was appointed clerk to the senate committee on railroads at the beginning of the present session of congress when the senate committees were organized. Soteldo senate committees were organized. The Jennie Cramer Case.

New Haves, February 13.—Professor Chittenden is engaged in applying analytical and other tests to portions of the remains of Jennie Cramer, recently exhumed, for traces of arsenic The examination made for the preliminary trial of the Malley boys was made in two weeks, but the chemists were then much hurried, and worked night and day. The present examination is being delinerately made, as there is an abundance of time, the trial before the superior centri having been set down for April. The lawyers for the defense did not avail themselves of the offer of the state to allow an expert to represent them at the examination. It is stated that the professor has found further indications of the poison.

A FAST YOUNG MAN.

St. Louis, February 13 .- Edward M. Kirtand, son of the senior member of the firm of Kirtland, Humphrey & Co., prominent cotton factors, and a clerk in the house, was ar-rested at the union depot at nine o'clock last night, just as he was stepping aboard the Missouri Pacific west-bound train. He is charged with forging the firm's name to a check for $3,500, and collecting that sum from the St. Louis national bank, yesterday, and all the circumstances point to his guilt. When arrested, he was accompanied by a frail woman named Kate Williams. Both were taken to the police headourters and searched. Only the police headquarters and searched. Only some $50 was found on Kirtland, but $2,900 and Kirtland's gold watch and two tickets for Albuquerque, New Mexico, were found on Albuquerque, New Mexico, were found on the woman, which she says was given to her articles of apparel, which she said she had purchased with money given her by Kirk-land. Kirkland is a young man 28 years old, has a wife and two children, and has moved in the best society. Both parties are still in confinement, and it is said young Kirkland's father will let the law takes its course. The affair, owing to the high standing of Kirkland, both commercially and socially, has caused a good deal of comment.

It was concluded this evening not to prosecute twas concluded this evening not to prosecute young Kirkland, and he will probably be released to-morrow. It is said he has been running with the Williams woman more than a year, but is now very penitent and promises to turn over a new leaf.

If the company does not complete its contract within three years then it forfeits all interest in the pro-posed roads and also the $155,000 paid, and is then relieved of all further claim for dam-The annual election of directors of the Marietta and Cincinnati road is to take place in trance between the back and front rooms, and no doors. The old man came up as usual Thursday evening and sat down at the table Thursday evening and sat down at the table formed by the Cincinnati New Orleans and State of the Baltimore Texas Pacific route with that of the Baltimore and Ohio, thus making a through route from the east to the south. We have learned of the alliance of the Erlanger interest with the Baltimore and Ohio in the recent reorganization of the New Jersey Central, wherein Mr. Fred Wolffe and John Scott were made members of the directory. It is now said that both Messrs. Wolffe and Scott are to be made directors in the Marietta and Cincinnati, which election, as above stated, will take place on Wednesday.

This may be done, yet it is not given as authentic, but only as a rumor.

There is, however, a strong talk of forming an alliance with either the Baltimore and Ohio or the Pennsylvania Central. In the opinion of a number of the stockholders it would be far more preferable to join with the out the door, within a few feet of the old latter company, arguing the superiority of that line over the other. The main objection, however, is that the Baltimore and Ohio road has not got a road of their own to New York, while the other has an independent line under their own control. It is claimed that an alliance can for this reason be formed much better, and be of more value, than with the Baltimore and Ohio. Another reason, coupled, however, with the fact of the Pennsylvania's through line is that the contract of both the Erlanger line is that the contract of both the Erlanger and Pennsylvania routes with the Pullman car company will soon expire, and after which each road will operate their own sleepers, and thereby run them through without change from New York to New Orleans. It is claimed that the Pennsylvania road is desirous of breaking the alliance with the Louisville and Nashville road for various reasons. The contract of the latter ward with Louisville and Nashville road for various rea-sons. The contract of the latter road with the Pullman company does not expire for some years yet. Consequently if the alliance is broken, the Pennsylvania people can begin the operation of their own sleepers about the same time it will be done by the Erlangers as both contracts expire about the same time

EVIDENCES OF A BITTER POLITICAL CONTEST IN GREAT BRITAIN.

The Comments of the Press on the Proposed New Rules The Government Insists on the Cloture Clause — Hin's of Caucus Rule—Austria and he Sclavs—Spanish Pilgrimage.

London, February 13 .- The Observer says it understands that vesterday the cabinet council decided that while on questions peculiarly affecting the business of the house of commons all amendments to the proposed rules of procedure may be fully conceded the government will be unable to retire from the rosition they have deliberately assumed, or accept any amendment seriously hampering the operation of the cloture clause The Observer comments on the above as follows: "We entertain the greatest doubts, not only in regard to the general expediency of the government's chief proposal, but also in regard to the reception which it is likely to meet with from the liberals. The persistence of the government seems to promise the most untoward results for both the liberal party and the country." The London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian says he understands that general inquiry by the government shows that there will be a majority in favor of the first of the proposed new rules of parliamentary pro cedure. It is supposed that Gladstone will appeal to the house of commons to permit the discussion of the rules to continue from day

The Daily News says in a leader, which is probably inspired, that if the rules are rejected the proper course of the government is clear. It should devote as many sessions of the present parliament as may be necessary to the county franchise, the redistricting of the seats and the corrupt practices bill. When these have been passed, it should appeal to the enlarged and reformed constituences on the question of other substantial reforms, to which a revision of proceedure is an essential preliminary.

The Daily News also states that the cloture rule is the very essence of the government's proposal, and should it be rejected the other rules will not be submitted to the house. The News, however, has no apprehension of such a result. The liberal seceders will probably be numbered only by the unit. They will be persons who nominally joined the liberal party in order to better serve its opponents. But in order to better serve its opponents. I these questionable allies and the aid of Irish enemy will not secure a victory for united forces of obstruction. It should be well understood by the constituencies that all the members who vote against the cloture clause are practically voting against the various reforms which the ministry is anxious to pass. The liberal seceeders are expected to include Mr. Norwood, Sir Edward Walkin, Messrs. Cowen, Stoney, Mariott and Walkin.

The Times says: "The cloture, beyond all dispute, is the question of the hour. It has been acclaimed in many cases with a ludibeen acclaimed in many cases with a ludicrous misconstruction of its meaning by the organs of the machine, which was brought to perfection two years ago, and of which the national federation of liberal associations at Birmingham is the main spring, but it has a rrayed against it, the unexpected unanimity of independent criticism. The disappearance of these men would throw the power more than ever into the hands of the machine. THE COLD WATER TEMPLARS.

A Large and Enthusiastic Meeting on Sunday. On Sunday afternoon Good Templars' hall was filled to overflowing with an intelligent andience drawn thither by the announcement that Judge Hillyer would deliver an address on the temperance issues of the day. The judge, however, was ill and unable to come out, much to the regret of the many friends of temperance in Atlanta.

The regular proceedings of Wenona Cold Water

The regular proceedings of Wenona Cold Water temple were held, interspersed with choice selections and recitations by the young members. All did well and deserve encouragement.

Hon. John H. James was called on, and made an excellent practical talk. He said a man might think he was poor and lowly, and below notice by others; but the fact remained that every man was a world to himself, and had it in his power to make himself, and in the end would have as much of earth as his richest neighbor. Therefore he should do his share in the world's work, and be a manand he could not be a man unless he was a temperance man.

Colonel John H. Seals followed in a speech of remarkable force, and pleased the children especially with his Sunday-school story. He told an aneedote of a preminent Georgian's failing for drink, and convinced the audience the man was prominent by callng him colonel. Mr. Seals promised to be heard from again in the campaign.

New York Commercial Bulletin.

Let us have no more "rotten boroughs," After the secession of the southern states, and pending the many troublesome political questions growing out of the subsequent civil war, it became necessary to invent sundry new states in order to respond, in appearance at least, to constitutional requirements in certain cases, and the result was the recognition of sundry sparsely settled territories, with a nomadic, shifting population, as sovereign states. In this way constituencies numbering a few thousand managed to get a voice in the United States senate quite as potential as that of the millions of New York, Pennsylvania or Ohio. By this ingenious process offices were provided for a horde of needy politicians, but it proved to be a pretty serious business for the tax payers. The country now is enjoying a period of profound tranquillity, and the pretexts that were formerly used to justify the invention of the rotten borough states are no longer available. There are no "aching voids" in the United States senate, consequent upon secession, to be filled by the manufacture of states for the purpose of admitting new senators. New York Commercial Bulletin.

Rev. Samuel P. Jones, of Cartersville, agent of the Orphans home of the North Georgia conference of the Methodist churh was in the city yesterday. He is engaged in a search for destitute orphans. What the Papers Say. RUMORS AND DENIALS. Bainbridge Democrat.

Sunday morning our people were considerably exercised over rumors to the effect that efforts had been made to get Miss Mary Lambert, a witness in the Williams Brocket murder case, out of the state, and that she had been arrested while in the act of boarding the steamer Saturday night. Our reporter called on Hon. John E. Donalson, to whom we had been referred for particulars; and in answer to our reporter's inquiry as to what he knew of the affair Mr. Donalson said: "I only know this: Saturday evening an interested party came down to my house and informed me that Mary Lambert was going to leave the state, and that she would take the steamer Everingham that night; and further-more he believed she had been paid to leave. I told him there was no way to stop her with-out an order from the count. He said he would make an affidavit and have her arrested on the charge of larceny. So the woman was arrested on the strength of his affidavit and lodged in jail. I learn that the gentleman who was taking her off, when first approached on the subject denied even knowing the woman, but afterwards acknowledged that he had hired her to go to Columbus and nurse an invalid mother. go to Columbus and nurse an invalid mother. This is all I know." Some time since Webb, This is all I know." Some time since Webb, one of the state's important witnesses in the case suddenly disappeared from the neighborhood and has not been seen since. Rumor has it that money moved him out of the way. To say the least of it there is something suspicious about this unanimous movement on the part of the witnesses for the prosecution. Our reporter called on one of the leading counsel for defense to find out what he thought of the rumors. "Well, it's simply a mare's nest with no eggs in it," said he. "It would not help the defense any for those witnesses to disappear, because their evidence under oath has been already taken, and it would hold good. I am satisfied the Williams brothers know nothing whatever of Mary Lambert's leaving, and no one will believe that we, the counsel, made any effort to dispose of her. She and Webb both have done our case all the harm they can. You can just these rumors down as false." A SAD DEATH.

Little Julia Safford is dead! How mournfully do we write these words. She was a bright, beautiful, amiable child, the center of attraction of doting parents and loving friends. This sad event occurred in Ozark, Ark., on Thursday, the 2d instant, to which place her parents had gone only a few months ago. Last summer this bright little jewel was thrown from a buggy, her head striking a tree, producing concussion of the brain, which was doubtless the remote cause of her death. After the fall she lay for several weeks unconscious, her bright young several weeks unconscious, her bright young life vibrating between life and death. She, however after anxious watching and skillful medication, sufficiently recovered to beget hopes of eventual restoration to her wonted physical and mental vigor, but these hopes have been dashed to the ground, and Julia, too pure and lovely to dwell on earth, has been transplanted in paradise, there to bloom perennially. She was about eleven years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Saffold, granddaughter of Mrs. Wittich, and niece of Mrs. Tr. Knight, who died the same week Mos. Dr. Knight, who died the same week she was injured, and who welcomed her to the spirit land. We tender our heartfelt sympathy to her stricken, childless parents and bercaved friends in this their dark hour

AN ATHLETE'S EXPLOIT.

Albany News and Advertiser. On Friday as the train from Brunswick was earing Millwood, the engineer blew for brakes, which were put on promptly, and necks were craned out of the windows and yes directed to the front to see what was the matter, when to the astorishment of all a man was seen standing in the mid-dle of a trestle, three hundred yards dle of a trestle, three hundred yards long and thirty feet high, apparently unable to move. Everybody expected to see him crushed to atoms, as the the train was on down grade, which rendered the brakes incapable of checking the momentum of the en-gine, and the space between it and the man was radidly growing less. The man seemed was radidly growing less. The man seemed to take in the situation at a glance. He could not go to the end of the trestle before the train would be on him, and if he jumped off he would probably break his neck. He laid his plans quickly, and acted at once. He laid his blans quickly, and acted at once. He laid his bundle down on the cross-ties and let himself down between the ties, holding on by his hands. As his head disappeared between the ties, the engineer blew off brakes and ran squarely over him. As soon as the monster had drawn its length over, the man raised himself up and crawled out on the track, resuming his journey as though nothing had happened. ney as though nothing had happened.

TERRIBLE DEATH OF A WORKMAN. Savannah News.

Yesterday morning about half-past ten o'clock a white man by the name of George Gardner, whilst employed at the guano shed of the Savannah, Florida and Western railway wharver, was killed almost instantly. He was engaged in sacking some guano, and was picking from the bottom of an immense pile, when about three tons caved in, burying the infortunate man beneath it. Some men in the vicinity immediately ru his assistance, and by hard work succeeded in digging him out in a few min-utes, but he was dead. His right arm was broken, and there was an ugly gash over his left eye. Coroner Sheftall was notified, and held an inquest, when a verdict was rendered in accordance with the facts. The deceased was a native of Portsmouth, N. H., but of late years had lived at Charlestown, Mass., and worked in the navy yard at that place. He was also an active fireman and member of Hose Carriage No. 5 of that place. He was thirty-six years of age, unmarried, and came to Savannah about three months since.

It was not the intention of the act of 1881 (acts 1880-81, page 124) to inter-fere with pre-existing liens or to hinder and delay parties in the ordinary rights provided by law for the exercise of their usual common law remedies. Nor did it make the grant of injunction and appointment of a re-ceiver mandatory, but gave a new remedy to creditors against insolvent traders, and left such action discretionary as heretofore under

WE print in another colum a letter from Dr. W. H. Felton in reply to an interview with Governor J. M. Smith, published in The Con-STITUTION on the new movement. Governor Smith will no doubt be surprised to find out that he is an ally of Governor Bullock and Hon. J. E. Bryant. The latter is preparing, we are informed, a strong pronunciamento in favor of the coalitionists. Dr. Felton's letter will no doubt bring forth a reply from Governor Smith. He wields a hefty meat ax, and will probably have something to say.

WHAT shall we do with Alaska? Eversince the iceberg was tacked on to the country by Mr. Scward this question has been a problem with congress. The population of Alaska is not homogeneous enough, nor does it possess t he elements of which thrifty communities are made, and if it did it has not the numbers that would entitle it to territorial government. Thus it is that we have within the republic a population with none of the rights of citizenship and outside of the protection of the constitution. The best solution yet offered is the proposition by the congress man from Oregon to make Alaska a judicial circuit, governed by a judge, a district attorney, a clerk, a marshal and three commissioners. The district attorney is also to be chief executive, surveyor general and commander of the militia; the clerk is to be recorder, register of deeds and treasurer; the collector of customs is to be ex-officio marshal; and the three commissioners are to act as justices of the DEMOCRATIC PROSPECTS.

George Alfred Townsend has had a long interview with Hon. Thomas Kinsella, editor of the Brooklyn Eagle, who is a prominent democrat and who, by reason of his newspaper connection, has a clear observation of events and a large knowledge

With all the advantage of his position and experience, however, Mr. Kinsella admits that the present situation of parties is such as to stand in the way of any reasonable forecast. He thinks, for one thing, that the democratic party is somewhat disturbed by the appearince of a strong tariff element in the south, and the development of this element obstructs the view of every presidential candidate. Without pausing here to describe or explain this element, it may be well to assure Mr. Kinsella that it is no more likely to disturb the harmony of the democratic party than the large free trade element in the re publican party has disturbed that organization. The tariff is not an issue on which either party can afford to divide, for the interests which it affects directly and indirectly are too vast to be put in peril by mere partisanship.

Mr. Kinsella thinks there is no question more important or more pressing or present ng a more popular issue for the democracy than that of banking. He says the national banks are a source of apprehension to every class of people if they could be made to see it, but he thinks the chief difficulty here lies in the fact that there are not ten men in congress who understand the currency question and can develop it from the bottom; but Mr. Kinsella regards it as the question of questions. It affects, he says, the price of the necessaries of life. He states that issue of currency by two thousand banks is a species of inflation which puts up the price of bread and meat so that men who live on their wages are paying thirty per cent more at the present moment for food, clothes and rent, than they paid two years ago. The price of everything has gone up except the price of labor, which remains stationary; a state of things that leaves us, even in the most prosperous times, upon the verge of a panic-though Mr. Kinsella thinks there is ess excuse for a financial panic in the United States than in any country on the globe. He thus continues his indictment: I think the measures advocated by Mr. Buckner, of Missouri, ought to commend themselves particularly to the democratic party. We ought to issue reasury notes instead of these greenbacks or na ional bank notes. Those treasury notes ought to be bottomed on coin deposited in the treasury de partment. I do not mean silver coin, for I am opsed to silver except as a medium of the smalle exchanges. Silver should not be the basis of the treasury notes. The greenback is not a treasury note, for it may not be redeemable in gold, and it has not been at different times in the past. But, i we had $300,000,000 in the treasury, it would be ample to secure the circulation of more than twice his amount, and these treasury notes would then represent something real, as much as your check repesents the money you have deposited in your bank. There would be less danger with $300,000,000 in the treasury of any panic or stringency calling it out. The national banks are bottomed on the govern-ment and bonds upon which the banks are drawng interest, while they are using this sovereign power of a circulation. What business has this overnment to be delegating its power to make noney to two thousand corporate institutions, all more or less, controlled by business speculators? The bank of England, which is authorized to issue the limited amount of notes of circulation, has two distinct departments, that of banking and that of ssue. My proposition is to take the issue department into the treasury itself, and then let anybody who wants to go into the business of banking. Originally the power was granted by the states to he government to make money, or, in terms, emi pills of credit. No state has ever undertaken to de t, though the supreme court decided after many years that a state could authorize a corporation to o what it could not do itself, namely, to issue bill of credit. That is the foundation of the old ystem of the state banks. The national governnent also made a creature of its own called the United States bank, which survived a good many years. It was not until the war that the presen estem of nominating bankers all over the country and giving them the right to issue came into vogue and hence we now have two thousand petty tyrants compelling us to aid their interests, and now they ease to be banks of issue, and so tyrannize over the people, and the bankers stalk in unbidden What question could be more important to the bulk of the people than this? These national bank diectors and presidents make a considerable portion of congress. The elections themselves are a part of their spoils speculations. We do not propose to re turn to any weaker system of the currency, but to adopt the more substantial one of having the trea ury issue the universal currency of the country.

Mr. Kinsella beats about the bush consid erably, and talks rather vaguely and loosely: out somewhere between his nose and his notions, he has certainly got on the track of a question that can be formulated into a very imposing issue. There is a class in this counney's friend, John Sherman, proposed a try, and it is a class which furnishes the funds for the republican campaigners, which makes the most of its profits out of the distresses of the people. This class is never happier, never more enterprising, and never more prosperous than in a period of panic. A shrinkage of values puts millions in its capacious pockets, and it is always working to produce a panic. When the people are prosperous-when the producers are getting fair prices, and when the laborers of the country are receiving fair wagesthen the panic-workers protest against what they call "inflation." General prosperity is an indication of this "inflation," and they bend ail their energies to bring about what they call "contraction." Now, when the laws of trade are about to produce a natural contraction of the currency-perceivable in the exportation of gold-the panic-workers are anxious to wipe out not only the government issues of legal tenders, but the silver certificates. All these symptoms go to show that the democratic party will have at least one living issue upon which to go to the country -provided the democratic party is wise mough to accept it.

> The fact that nearly every important railroad in he state is a definite part of some combination o other has given the state commission an opportu nity to lay its hand gently on some of the through reight discriminations.

> THERE are symptoms that New York will adop he railroad laws of Georgia as its own. Such ac tion on the part of the empire state of the north would be quite a tribute to the empire state of the outh. Georgia can assure her esteemed sister that a railroad commission composed of the proper material is a very convenient piece of state furniture. It is just as good for the railroads as it is for the people.

WHEN the article from the Denver Tribune first eached us we denounced the charges made against Mr. Hoke Smith, of this city, as being entirely without foundation, in an article on blackmailing. Mr. English and John C. New were bank officers at that time, and these gentlemen agreed to so arrange their sleeping apartments that they would be burglar-proof. To this caid Mr. English did bar his windows, the bars being perhaps a half-face square, made in the form of lattice work. The bars are there still, and actually add to the appearance of the room as viewed from the street. That's all there is of the story. But the impression went abroad that Mr. English, with a miser's love of gold, made a jeil of his sleeping apartment to avoid the possibility of losing the treasure therein stored. Nothing was said about John C. New's barred windows: but then he was not a candidate for the vice presidency.

A native-born citizen of Rhode Island requires neither personal property nor real estate as a qualification for the elective franchise, which is as free to him as it is to the citizens of most of the United States. He is simply required to register his name, and bay one dollar registry or poll tax, if he pays no other taxes, The man who in Rhode Island is kept from the polls by this moderate requirement might perhaps be a safe custodian of political power, but his lack of interest in the government is discouraging. The foreign-born citizen to be a voter must own a small interest in the soil, a provision which has contributed largely to the material prosperity and well-being of the class affected, by prompting the better portion to become real estate owners; and in no other section of the country does so large a proportion of the foreign born citizen live in neat, comfortable and well-berp homes of their own. We may appeal to the statistics of the census to illustrate the wholesome results and to justify the substantial wisdom of Rhode Island governmental institutions. Providence Journal.

The democrats are very much incensed at Brown because of the vete, and say he is endeavoring to get a reputation once more as a non-partisan in order to obtain certain federal appointments he wants. Brown has been quite active in seeking federal appointments for Georgia, but the president has not been inclined to grant his request. Now, so say some democrats, Brown is endeavoring to shape his course so as to make it appear that he is not averse to independent politics, in hopes that it may commend him to the president. Another explanation of his vote, offered by his critics, is that he has an idea that a great independent movement is developing which will earry the country in 18st, and he wants to join it. He has not offered any explanation himself.

Senator Joe Brown, of Georgia, caused considerable excitement to-day in the senate by voting against the taking up of the resolution appointing Neil S. Brown, Jr., acting chief cierk. The vote of the Georgis senator was all the more astonishing as the democrats had indorsed by caucus the nomination of Mr. Brown Senator Brown's vote defeated the democratic purpose, and all sorts of solutions are given for his action. The popular impression that the vote of Senator Brown was desired. pression that the vote of senator Brown was designed to give notice that he is hereafter to be an independent is not well founded. The truth is that Mr. Brown is believed to have cust his vote in that way in order that he might control so far as possible the federal patronage of Georgia. Mr. Brown is a senator who is more feared than loved in his state, and it is believed that he has not taken the tep without being pretty well assured that he will be rewarded for it.

Designation of the present that the senator who is more than the will be rewarded for it.

Philadelphia Times, on Top of the Fence. Senator Brown, of Georgia, is one of the southern ndependents who depends upon himself for his ndependence, and when he doesn't choose to follow the party call he just quietly but obstinately says

0. Mahone is an independent of the dependent sort, Mahone is an independent of the dependent sort, and he depends upon post offices, revenue commissions and factious slaves to sustain his professed independence. He summoned the people of Virginia to be independent of party and men; and when Massey asserts his own independence Mahone's hired editors denounce Massey as a traitor. Brown typifies the independent independence of the south; Mahone typifies the most abject dependence upon party spolls to shame the flag of independence, and he who runs may understand the difference. The one is honest and fearless; the other is dishonest and cowardly. The one would cloud a state with violated faith and dishoner; the other would elevate a state by the manhood of its statesmanship.

Whether Senator Brown shall vote for party can didates for petty offices in the senate or vote against them, will be regarded as a matter of moment to office-hunters and office-traders; but it is not a matter of moment to the great mass of intelligent people either north or south. It is a luxury these days to see a United States senator vote just as pleases himself, without pausing to trade with traders or to explain to self-appointed masters, and that's just about what Senator Brown has done.

"NEAR CARTERSVILLE."

He Takes Umbrage at Some of the Remarks of Ex-Governor Smith, and Brings up some Reminis-onces of the Administration of 1872— A Sharp Political Document, Etc.

TON HIMSELF.

NEAR CARTERSVILLE, GA., February 13th, 1882-Editors Constitution: Since Governor Smith has thought proper to go into print to denounce Geor gia independents, making some unfounded asserions as well as some remarkable admissious, he deserves a little notice. As he singled me out for call it so. The mistake of the democratic bourbon leaders is the assumption of superiority that is not warranted by the facts.

The ballot is not free, and the count is generally favorable to the party that manages the ballot box. When the time comes the proof will be at hand. Any citizen of feorgia who desires to relieve the state from the domination of corrupt tricksters, and to conduct the state house upon correct business principles, is at liberty to vote with the independents, and God helping the right, we will endeavor to get that vote counted. It is suggestive of a peculiar state of affairs that we find our two democratic governors uniting with ex-Governor Bullock to preserve the boarbon rule. Does it mean that nobody but the knowing ones can have an entrance to the hidden secrets of the capitol! If there is another politician in the state more odorous in the republican party than Governor Bullock, it is J. E. Bryant. The latter is loud in his praise of the present regime, and that "coalition," is so harmonious, that both can be interviewed and praised in bourbon journals.

It is a matter of history that J. E. Bryant was one the democratic cancus nominee in a Georgia legister.

It is a matter of history that J E Bryant was once the democratic caucus nominee in a Georgia legislature. In my opinion, that "coalition" is not dissolved at the present writing. In the canvas of 1878, Mr. Bryant was a valuable co-worker, and did all that was expected of him. He told Colonel D. S. Printup, of Rome, that he intended to organize the republicans in the interest of Judge Lester, and he induced a very clever gentleman to run the race through, with a result of only two votes. He delivered the goods according to contract, and the 'coalition' was lively and active. Fortunately for the state, Mr. Bryant was not so well respected in the republican party as he was in the democratic party. Hence these tears!

Governor Bullock confessed that he was "on the make," and he was forced to fly from the state, but a democratic judiciary, appointed, we believe, by ex-Governor Smith, gave him a triumphant acquittal. It was whispered that it would not do to convict, because two rotten democrats were exposed to view every time you uncovered one corrupt republican. Now, I submit there is no more reason why the hundreds of good men in the republicate party should be condemned for Governor Bullock's irregularities, than that honest democratic under later administrations. In justice to Governor Bullock, we will say he reminds us of an expression often used among hunters—"one holds and another skins." So Bullock was selected to hold up the old battle-scarred carcass of Georgia in its priverty and desolation, while many of the present head-lights of bourbon democracy did the "skinning." In our opinion, that "coalition" continues until the present, and the "skinning" process has never been concluded among these coalitions in the second continues until the present, and the "skinning" process has never been concluded among these coalitions.

cess has never been concluded among these coalitionsts

If the honest republicans of Georgia have determined to unite with the honest democrats to rid themselves from these miserable coalitionists, I say, God speed the move! Governor Conley was executive for a short time after Bullock, and nobody has charged any irregularity upon him, although he was a republican. Why is it nobody has a kind word for him who walked so straight in those crooked times? Governor Smith anys it would be a "great calamity" for the republican party to hold any offices in Georgia. As he and his successor have failed to impress the people with their superlative fitness for the executive office, there are numbers of men in Georgia, who consider a longer continuance of such men in office, as a "great calamity." Nothing but the inherent honesty and unpurchaseable character of the masses in the state has kept the whole machine from becoming a rotten borough.

In the gubernatorial canvass of 1880, the state

borough.

In the gubernatorial canvass of 1880, the state never saw such a carnival of trickery, bribery and corruption. The "race issue," was the only issue, and Governor Smith was as greedy for the colored vote as any other politician; and he was open in his opinion that Colquitt's election would be a "great calamity." What influence has wrought this change?

To come a little nearer to the honorable centle.

his opinion that Coquitt's election would be a "great calamity." What influence has wrought this change?

To come a little nearer to the honorable gentleman I have just read his letter on the Alston-Garlington fee. As Squeers would say, "That's richness!"

He arraigned Colquitt for paying the money—but the facts as developed show that Colquitt carried out the Smith contract. The latter complains that the contract was purely a private affair, and Colquitt ought to have paid the lobbyists less money. He does not explain whether the state would have been more benefitted under his management. In my opinion the difficulty lay in the want of harmony among the parties who wished to do the "skinning." If both executions had been made to answer to a righteous impeachment, the "true inwardness" would have been developed. An independent governor would have laid first the claim and then the money before the legislature—the only authority in Georgia which can give money belonging to the people to any person whatever. There has been a general looseness in throwing around the tax payers' money. It is remarkable that it generally went to political pets and good workers in elections. Every dollar that could be manipulated has been placed where it would do most good; and when a change of officials is proposed by outsiders, every mother's son of them squalls like he was badly hurt; and like the distinguished railroad commissioner, every single man proposes to stick to the party that fee's him until, like Lasabianca, all commissioner, every single man proposes to stick to the party that fee'd him until, like Casabianca, all the rest baye fied. The state may bleed, and suffer, and as in the celebrated Jones' case get only $55,000 for about six times the amount in question, but the pap-suckers will be violent \(^2 -amocrasts to the end. Call them what you will, and prove all that you white women in the jail.

IN OTHER WORDS, FROM DR. FEL-

say, but don't impugn their democracy! That's the only nerve that quivers!

Now I come to the cream of Governor Smith's recent interview. Hear him:

"I am the author of the convict lease system and I am proud of it!"

It is said that the inventor of the guillotine was one of the men beheaded by it. It really appears as if the ex-governor is disposed to feel the edge of his own instrument on his own neck.

It has not been a week, Messrs. Editors, since you deno-need the system as a relic of republican misrule, fastened on an unwilling people by a republican legislature. I thought you were incorrect then, Governor Smith has settled the question. What have you to say now about the authorship? I have been arraigned in the public press for two months because I did not charge upon the republican party the inauguration of this issues. Now, Messrs. Editors, give satan his due, but be sure you give the "author of the system," entire credit for his work. As he says he is proud of it, he must resemble another official in history, who chose to be infamous, rather than not be famous.

When you insisted that the republicans were responsible for it, I thought you would find it was an invention, designed to enrich certain politicians, who have always been ready to coalesce upon any measure that filled their pockets at the expense of the state. Read over the names of the lessees aloud, and then call to mind the "silent partners," and i think you will agree with me. It will only be just for the press of the state to wheel into line, and make the ex-governor responsible for this self-confessed authorship and its results.

When Governor Smith appeared in the Norwood canvass flourishing a "convict catechism," he was, in his own estimation, a much better statesman than the convict ring, headed by Brown, Gordon and Colquitt. He did not think it "an insuit to the colored people" to discuss the lease at that time; although it is a high crime for me to do so at the present.

It was expressly provided that no change should be made unless some lessee refused to accept convicts, then the governor could make some provision for them.

In 1876 the political "ring-masters" got to itching for an earlier dividend upon this slave property. Nobody refused to accept any convicts, because all were greedy for more. General Phillips, of Martetta, gave the facts I am about to relate, and certain friends of mine were present at the time. He (Phillips) was requested to return a few to the state. He refused. Again he was asked to do so, and he finally agreed to return "nine," if a written guarantee was given him that he should not "be hart."

Governor mith's administration gave this guarantee in 1876, and straightway the new bids were advertised for and the new lease campanies, Nos. 1, 2 and 3, went into the possession of their large inheritance, and began to draw dividends from this immense convict-slave property. Is the author of this trick, as proud of this feat, as he is of the system? Sharp practice, ch!

Fraud is said to vitiate all contracts—outside of Georgia. What will be done with the lease with these clouds hanging over it must be decided by the honest voters of the state. A distinguished gentleman in public life told me that fifty dollars per capita was offered for these convicts, but a much lower bid was accepted. His name I withhold until it is needed.

General Phillips told me also that this written guarantee, given him in 1876, was shown to a legislative cormittee two or three years ago when a dispute had arisen about the contract with the Marietta and North Georgia raflroad. The members of the legislature to whom that investigation was confided can substantiate the statement.

Here was a specimen of democratic jugglery that throws Bullock into the shade! Only democrats were in office when these things were done! Democratic office of the state of the wellow of the legislature to whom that investigation was confided can substantiate the statement.

time were ready to take a hand in this business of the new lease.

As I said before, the ex-governor is ambitious to incur the odium that accompanies the whole affair.

Now, when he comes to the front to denounce bet-ter men than himself, as attempting o "drag Geor-gia down"—let him explain his connection with these intrigues that did lower the grand old state into this pit of official trickery, or forever hold his peace.

I do not excuse anything Governor Bulluck did that was wrong, nor will I excuse Governor Smith or similar offenses. I find both on the same side in politics, and both quite willing to abuse men who oppose them. Their "coalition"

Smith for similar offenses. I find both on the same side in politics, and both quite willing to abuse men who oppose them. Their "coalition" is not denied now.

The old cry of "radical," "traitor" "disorganizer," etc., wont do this time. It is worn out in this part of the country. Some of the loudest democratic leaders were the most blatant in 1865 on the other side; and their present willingness to open up a smooth way to official spoils has condoned all former crimes. Unless there is some new salt injected into the body politic, the party has lost its savor, and the cry of "coalition" against the independents, is only a new name for "stop thiel"—that betrays the thief itself.

The party policy has got beyond the help of the honest men in the party. The "coalitions" are too strong for innocence and honesty, and the men who clamor for reform in the democratic party, within its organization, are the very men who cheated in the last deal, and are only waiting for another chance, to cheat again. When the thimble-riggers get through with one crafty lob they are fixing up, for another. If you work faithfully and ask nothing for yourself, and defend all their official "crookedness," you may be considered a very clever fellow; but you must take always a back seat, or you will meet a senatorial sueer, or a spike from the railroad boomerang.

When a high office is traded off for money, don't ask any questions—accept it and defer d it, or you will find your self-abnegation of no value, no matter how long you have waited on the party. It is a road that never gets out of the well-beaten track, and there is no abuse half hard enough for a man who prefers to serve principle rather than the party tricksters. Don't allow yourselves, Messrs. Editors, to get discouraged by this fight on the young men of the state. It is the young blood and pure patriotism of our young men, that is to redeem Georgia, and push the banner of independentism to victory. I, myself, am traveling down the shady side of life, but i shall hold out an open

As" Hazel Kirke" Miss Effie Ellsler has made a n tional reputation. She has made sweetly chaste and innocent a character that was pure, womanly, bright and good. Last night her rendition commanded the highest praise, her reading and graceful action being of a strong dramatic style. In short, the acting of the company is good, in instances outside of those mentioned, exceptionally fine. The "Arthur Carrington" of Mr. Harry Lacey was good. natural and effective. Miss Sydney Cowell as "Dolly Dutton" was very sprightly. "Pittacus Green," who is everybody's friend, gave Mr. Charles Bouser a good chance to show his very creditable comicality. Miss Flora Livingston well sustained the character of "Lady Travers." The "Mercy Kirke" of Mrs. Sol Smith, and the "Aaron Rodney" of Mr. West m were much above the average and received compliments. The company is an unusually strong one. "Hazel Kirke" again to-night.

THE COTTON MARKET

CONSTITUTION OFFICE, Atlanta, February 13, 1882 New York—The beaviest decline of the season occurred to-day, and again excitement is worked up to the highest pitch. At the opening this morning futures were irregular and unsettled at prices about 15@20 points under Saturday's close. During the early part of the day very light fluctuations of curred, but toward noon the market developed increased weakness and moved heavily. In the after noon a weak tone prevailed, but before the close the market made a faint effort to advance. At the close futures had declined about 30@33 points since aturday's close, and the general appearance of the market, has little about it to encourage the hope of any immediate advance. The spot market moved

The local cotton market is at a standstill. inquiry invery moderate, but holders are making no offerings, and as a general thing cling to the be lief that they will get better prices for cotton yet.

The decline in New York to-day has caused no direct decline in our market, though the tone is per-haps some weaker than on Saturday. Receipts today amount to 270 bales, of which 47 bales were re ceived from wagons. At the close no quetable change in prices had occurred: Good middling 111/2e; middling 111/2c; low middling 103/4e; strict good ordinary 10%; good ordinary 10c; ordinary

NEW YORK, February 13-The Post's cotton market report says: "There has been another serious break in future deliveries. Much long cotton was thrown on the market, and, although taken up by the bear est, such has been the desire to affect sales that at 1:50 p.m. prices had fallen 33@37-100. The small on the value of the article for the present, has lost all and every influence. The extent to which calls for margins are responded to alone af fects the market. Just now, to judge by the effect, there seems to be a general stampede. Just before and at the third call, buyers took courage and paid an advance of 3@8-100. SAVED FROM A HORRIBLE DEATH.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Quincy, Illinois, November 1, 1881.

Two years ago I contracted Syphilis, and up to hisy last had spent $500 for treatment by the best medical men without any benefit. My mouth and throat becoming badiy ulcerated, sores breaking out on my neck and legs. I also suffered exeruclatingly with Rheumatism, growing very despondent, and my best friends advised me that the key hand of death was fast approaching. I caught 8, 8, 8, like a drowning man an a straw. After taking two-bottles I could feel a change for the better. The sores began to discharge freely and Rheumatism to-boate. When I had taken six bottles every sore had healed, my skin becan to assume a natural appearance. I persisted and I had taken twelve bottles, AND THERE IS COT A SYMPTOM OF THE DISTANCE REMAINING, and I feel as well as I ever did. I have gained 21 pounds in fiesh, and my friends wonder at my improved condition. I have recommended it to many, and in every instance with count ele sugeress. I believe that S. S. S. has saved me from a hearible death. C. H. SMILEY.

O. A. Johnson, Agent S. S. S. Co.—Feeling that
I owe a lasting debt of graditude to you, and especially the S. S. S. medicine, I deem it but a duty
I owe to suffering humanity, and that class especially who suffer with Syphilis, to say that fifteen months ago I came to Hot Springs to get relief from that accursed disease from which I had been suffering for time years. During these fifteen months I have faithfully botthed in the bot waters: have been treated by the acknowledged best physicians in the valley without benefit, who pronounced my case incurable, and ad lead me to go north and seek the confines of some hospital. I have no war to make either upon the hot waters or the physicians of the valley, but I do say with all my heart, all praise to your S. S. medicine. I can be found up stairs next door south of Bustin's store. Comeand see me if you are at all skeptical.

This testimonial is not given in the Interest of any individual or company of men, but that the great mass of suffering humanity may know of aremedy that has proven most wonderful in my case.

CRIMINALS.—The following state cases were booked yesterday at the station house: J. Rosenberg, forgery; George Bowen, larceny; Candy Washington, larceny; Henry Cooper,

On Time.—One dozen of the best theatrical companies have already taken dates in Atlanta for next year. Mr. DeGive says that within two months, he will have perfected most of the booking for the season of 1882-83.

DEATH AT LAST .- Stafford, the negro boy who had his arm torn off in the plow factory two or three weeks ago, and upon whose arm amputation was performed, after suffering intense pain for several days, died Sunday from the effects of the injury. Prior to his death he was having convulsions almost every moment, and his sufferings were terrible to behold.

It Was Nor Wolfe.—In a paragraph referring to the fire alarm Saturday, The Constitution stated that the fire was caused by a defective flue used by the Great Southern teacompany. Such was thought by many to be the case but subsequent investigations show that the flue was not used by the teacompany, but was being used by McNaught & Scrutchen. Mr. Wolfe's establishment is well protected against fire.

FINANCIAL TROUBLES .- Dun & Co.'s mer FINANCIAL TROUBLES.—Dun & Co.'s mercantile agency yesterday reported an assignment of Moorman & Johnson, general merchants at Dalton. Their liabilities are estimated at $5,000; assets unknown. Bradstreet's agency reports the closing, by an attachment, of E. J. Russell, at Athens. His liabilities are put down at $20,000. The same agency reports the failure of L. N. Pritchard, of Thomaston, whose liabilities are $4,000, and assets are about $2,000. assets are about $2,000.

STARTING THE ENGINE. - Another important startise the Example.—Another important step in the forward march of Atlanta's industrial progress was taken on yesterday, at exactly forty-one minutes past three o'clock. Mr. Wheelock opened the valve on the magnificent engine he has built for the new cotton mill, and the ponderous machine became alive. So the list of Atlanta's industries increases, and we hope soon to chronicle the creases, and we hope soon to chronicle the starting of the great exposition mills.

A BREAK FOR LIBERTY.—Yesterday at half-past three o'clock as Bailiff Thompson was carrying a negro prisoner from Justice Butt's court to the jail the negro made a break for liberty, when he reached the head of Mc-Donough street. Mr. Thompson gave chase and fired two shots at him, but neither took effect. fired two shots at him, but neither took effect. Deputy Sheriff Green was in the neighbor-hood and also gave chase and fired three shots, but without success. The negro succeeded in making good his escape. He was charged with simple largeny

CUT IN THE BACK.—Sunday night, about 7 o'clock, a difficulty occurred about two miles and a half from Stone Mountain, in which Sallie Garmany, a white woman, was cut three times in the back by a man named Seab Brown. Brown and the woman lived near each other, but were not on speaking terms. Sunday, at the time stated above, Brown was seen by his wife to emerge from the house of Sallie Garmany. He had walked unceremoniously through. The women got into a quarrel which resulted in a fight. Brown interposed and cut Sallie Garmany as stated above.

Hogansviele, February 13.-Editors Consitution—Gents: Seeing in your paper that some one wants a remedy for hog cholera, I send the following: Put your hogs in a dry pen and don't give them any water, except about once a week. Feed on corn or oats, with an occasional feed of dough made of corn meal. Water will kill them quicker than almost anything else. The above is a than almost anything else. The above is a sure preventive, and will cure where the hogs have not been affected too long. Chicken cholera should be treated in the same way. Feed on stiff corn meal dough, or oats, but give them no water. SUBSCRIBER.

A PLEASANT PLACE.—We learn that Mr. Joseph M. Brown, of this city, has purchased Cobutta springs, in Murray county, from Mr. W. M. Lewis, of Dalton: This was a famous old watering place in the ante-bellum days. Situated eighteen miles northeast of Dalton. at the very base of the Cohutta mountains, it is one of the prettiest spots in Georgia. The waters are chalybeate, red sulphur, alum epsom salts and magnesia. Besides these a freestone spring gushes out of the mountain-side above the cottages, and in the valley near by is limestone water in abundance. The scenery is very fine, and the climate cool and delightful. We are much gratified that an Atlanta man has secured the property and hope that under his ownership its old-time fame may be restored. Mr. Brown gaye may be restored. Mr. Brown gave $2,500 for the property.

THE CONSTITUTION AND ITS BILL ARP ARTI-THE CONSTITUTION AND ITS BILL ARP ARTI-CLES.—Editors Constitution.—From a para-graph in your Sunday's issue addressed to the Sunny South, we discoved that you attach un-usual importance to your Bill Arp letters, and lest some of your readers who do not see the Sunny South may infer from said para-graph that we are stealing your thunder and giving you no credit for it, we beg to call your attention to our issue of Langary. 8th last in attention to our issue of January 28th last, in which we make a special statement, with complimentary remarks that these articles are written for The Constitution and copied written for THE CONSTITUTION and copied into our paper from its colums. It is full and complete and no reader of the Sunny South could fail to see it, for it is the most conspicuous article on our editorial page. We have not thought it necessary, in addition to this, to give a special credit to each letter, but will do so if you insist. You know we would not rob you of a single laurel. You have won a grand success in journalism, and righly degrand success in journalism, and richly deserve all the honors and all the money that could be heaped upon you. The CONSTITTION and Sunny South are in no way antagonistic, and every family in Georgia should take both.

CUPID AT HYMEN'S ALTAR. - One of the mo brilliant affairs that has occurred took place Sunday evening in this city at the residence of Mr. D. Strauss, when Mr. Henry Well-house was joined in wellock to Miss Bertha Silberman, by the Rev. Dr. Jacobson. The silberman, by the Rev. Dr. Jacobson. The reception given afterwards at Concordia hall was brilliant, and lasted away into the "wee sma" hours, enlivened by several appropriate addresses, and substantially assisted by a bountiful collation. Our genial friend, the groom, seemed in high spirits, and well might he be, at the possession of a jewel more valuable to him, than the processors stones begand upon them, as all the precious stones heaped upon them as presents.

A few among the many valuable presents received, were a handsome gold necklace and locket, set with diamonds, by Mr. L. Strasburger, of New York; set silver spoons, Mr. C. Adler, of New York; handsome antique set, J. Auerbach; silver card receiver, by L. Cohen and E. Steinheimer; handsome clock. Jake and E. Steinheimer; handsome clock. Jake Menko; large and small silver set, by Hirsch Bros; handsome silver set, by Haas Bros., and many others we have not space to name.

At the residence of the bride's father, Dr. Camp, on Sunday evening, Mr. J. H. Myers and Miss Belle Camp were united in marriage by Rev. Dr. Kendall.

Diphtheria

A cold or sore throat may not seem to amount to much, and if promptly attended to can easily be cured; but neglect is often tollowed by consumption or diphtheria. No medicine has ever been discovered which acts so quickly and surely in such cases as PERRY DAVIS PAIN KILLER. The prompt use of this invaluable remely has the been before the public for forty years, and is most valued where it is best known. A few extracts from voluntary testimonials read as follows:

PAIN KILLER has been my household remedy for colds for the past twenty-seven years, and have mover known it to fail in effecting a cure.—
L. S. Chocker, Williamsville, N. Y.
For thirty years I have used PAIN KILLER, and found it a nover-failing remedy for colds and sore throat.—BAINTON SEAMAN.

For twenty-five years I have used PAIN KILLER, and found it a nover-failing remedy for colds and sore the colds and chapped lips, and consider it the best preparation made. We would not be without it.—

I have just recovered from a very severe cold, which I have had for some time. I could get no relief until I tried your Pars KILLER, which relieved me immediately. I will never again be without it. — C. O. Fonce, Lowndes, Ga.

Have used Pars KILLER in my family for forty years, and have siever known it to fail.—RANSOM LEWIS, Waynesboro, Ga.

I becam using Pars KELLER in no family twenty.

I began using Pain Keller in my family twenty-tve years ago and have used it ever since, and have ound no medicine to take its place.—B. W. DYER, Druggist, Oneida, N. Y.

For Chills and Fever, PAIN KILLER has ro equal. It cures when everything else falls. Delays are often dangerous. A bottle of PAIN KILLER in the house is a safeguard that no family should be without. All druggists sell it at 25c., 50c., and $100 per bottle.

of her friends and relations would but half convey the truth. About one year ago this estimable young lady, then Miss Zaidee Mar-tin, was married to Mr. Aldrich, of Barnwell, and lett Augusta, where her friends were numerous and admiring, for her new home. She was, in many respects a remarkable lady. She was, in many respects, a remarkable lady. Handsome in person and with a most striking presence, her character was equally one of beauty strengthened by dignity. She was gifted with a mind of singular clearness and depth, and added a wealth of sparkling intelligence to an intellect well trained and widely informed. She was a genuine favorite among her friends in Augusta, who can scarce think of her but in life and beauty as when she was hereouly a short and beauty, as when she was here only a short time ago. How untimely, her family may well exclaim in their riftless sorrow, is such a death! and yet the same destroyer which a death! and yet the same destroyer which pales her brow and chills her breath with ice, bring out in more enmarbled and enduring beauty the virtues of a life which cluster around her memory like flowers about her bier. How untimely, cry her friends, is such a death! and yet that life had been ennobled by the purest love known in this world, and that career had been crowned by the highest glory of womanhood.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

GENERAL M'RAE DIES IN AU-GUSTA.

Busy Life Ended—How the News was Received in Amnta-Draping of the Trains and Depots of the Western and Atlantic Railroad ns Passed, Etc., Etc., Etc.

General William MacRae died suddenly at 9:40 o'clock Saturday night at the Globe hotel in Augusta, of congestion of the lungs.

It will be remembered that deneral Mac-Rae has not enjoyed good hearth for some time, and it was owing to his ill health that he recently sent in his resignation as superintendent of the Western and Atlantic rail-

On Tuesday night last General MacRae left the city for Wilmington, North Carolina, where he intended going for the purpose of ooking after some business interests. He reached Augusta Wednesday morning and did not appear to be sick, but Saturday night he was a corpse. The fullest account of the death of General MacRae, which has yet reached the city, is the following from the Augusta Chronicle of Sunday:

"Last night at 9:40 General Wm. MacRae breathed his last at the Globe hotel, in this City city. Last Wednesday, 8th instant, he arrived in Augusta from Atlanta, and register ing "Wm. MacRae, North Carolina," was assigned to room No. 6. For the past two or three days he has been feeling badly, although yesterday morning he came down stairs and seemed able to get about. Last evening, however, he was seized with a chill and Dr. R. G. Hitt was summoned to his bed side. Everything possible was done for his relief, but it was early evident that his disease was most vigorous in its attack and disease was most vigorous in its attack and alarming in its nature, and at 9:40 Gen eral MacRae died from congestion of the lungs. His body was soon taken charge of by an undertaker and prepared for the shroud. He was alone in the city, and his remains will lie in state at the Globe until to-morrow, when relatives wilreach the city. Mr. Walter MacRae, of Wilmington, North Carolina, brother of the deceased, was immediately informed of the death of the general, and made all directions by telegraph as to the disposition of the body. by telegraph as to the disposition of the body. Colonel R. A. Anderson, of Atlanta, superintendent of the Western and Atlantic railroad, was also wired of the occurrence. The dead man had received every attention and care from Messrs. Atkinson and their employes of the Globe hotel, who have also taken charge of the body, and will turn it over to his brother

General MacRae's brother arrived in Augusta from Wilmington Sunday, and on Sunday night left for Wilmington with the re-

The news was received in Atlanta with astonishment and regret. General MacRae was a most popular man and had endeared himself to many people of Atlanta. As a mark of respect, the Atlanta depot of the Western and Atlantic Railroad, the engines and passenger cars and the depot at Chattanooga were heavily draped. More than six hundred yards of cloth was used in this work. At a meeting of the officers, agents and other employes of the company, held yesterday at the depot in this city, for the purpose of taking some action relative to the death of General MacRae, Mr. R. A. Anderson was called to the chair and Mr. A. B. Bostick was requested to act as secretary.

General MacRae was raised in Wilmington.

North Carolina, and there learned the trade of a machinist. His father's family still lives there. He was about forty-six years old and had never been married. His early career is not known in Atlanta, but when he attained his majority and began in earnest the battle of life he made himself prominent in everything which he undertook. We believe that it was in 1870 that he began his career in Georgia. At any rate, it was in that year that he was elected general superintendent of the Macon and Brunswick railroad. Previous to that time he was superintendent of the Wil-mington and Manchester railroad. He re-mained with the Macon and Brunswick rail-road until November, 1873, at which time he was elected superintendent of the Western and Atlantic railroad. The position was held by him with credit to himself and satisfaction to the company. Four years ago he was elected general manager, a position which he filled with credit until the 8th of last December, when he resigned.

Since his resignation he has made two trips

Since his resignation he has made two trips to Florida with a view to locating there and expected to go again as soon as he returned from Wilmington. His death cast a gloom over the entire city.

The amount of fines imposed by the recorder for the month is $1.415.50, of which amount there was collected, $837.20; remitted by his honor, the mayor, $2 75; lost by escapes from the public works, $160; worked and being worked on in the street, $115.55 collected, SSS.29; remitted by managements, $160; worked and being worked on in the street, $160; worked and being worked on in the street, $185.55.

The amount of money collected from the various sources and paid to and receipted by the city clerk on account of fines, $887.20; station house fees and impounded store, $54.55; check on Fulton county for feeding state prisoners, $21. Making a total for the month of $962.75.

The city for the past month has been very orderly and with the exception of two large fires, in which much property was destroyed, has been very quiet. At the above mentioned fires the officers and men of the force were very active in protecting the firemen and making themselves generally useful.

The change in relieving the watch squads is a good idea, and no doubt will-redound to the good of the city.

In reference to the police force you may well congratulate yourselves upon the efficiency and activity that is displayed by that body. A few of the force are probably not as energetic as they should be, but taking everything into consideration, I think, as a body, that they will compare favorably with any force of the same size in the country.

You will notice from my report that the number of cases made during the month is considerably less than for previous months. The inference might be drawn from this that the force is not vigilant or else neglectful of duty. In answer to this I will simply say that I am satisfied where the naw was violated that cases were made accordingly.

The station house is kept in as good condition as circumstances will permit. The prisoners confined therein on the night of the fire had to be set at liberty, as the indications at that time were that the station would be destroyed. Painting and repairing made necessary by the fire are being made. Station House Keepers Buchanan and Moon are faithful in the discharge of their duties. I would respectfully suggest to your honorable body the propriety of having one of the men detailed for the purpose of guarding the stocka

Plain Truths.

It has been frequently charged that American cigarettes are injurious, and this is undoubtedly true of many brands, and the reason is, that instead of being made of pure tobacco they are largely adulterated with opium and other injurious materials.

The representative of a large Southern tobacco house, who has made the matter a study, says that the extent to which drugs are used in "doctoring" cigarettes is appalling, valerian and the tincture of opium being used to a frightful extent.

The paper coverings are also a fruitful source of evil. Cotton-paper is largely used, and is manufactured from the filthy scrapings of rag-pickers, The lime and other substances used in bleaching have a very harmful influence on the membrane of the throat.

Rice-paper is the only cigarette covering that is not injurious, and as this is expensive, it is but little used, although claimed to be by nearly every manufacturer.

Believing that smokers realize the need of a new cigarette made from the best pure tobacco and free from all adulteration, Messrs. W. T. Blackwell & Co., the famous smoking tobacco manufacturers, have just put on the market a pure cigarette, called "Blackwell's Bull Durham Cigarette." They guarantee it to be made only of pure tobacco, and that the best, and the wrapper of pure rice-paper.

Aspure cigarette is a greater novelty than most people think. You'll know their brand by the BULL on each package. You have seen that BULL before? Of course you have, and you don't need to be told that he is the trademark of Blackwell & Co., and that any tobacco that has that trade-mark is purity itself. Dr. August Voelcker, F. R. S. Consulting Chemist of the, Royal Agricultural Society, after making a thorough analysis of various samples of leaf tobacco, says:

With regard to the leaf tobacco, from which Blackwell's Durham Cigarettes are manufactured, I find merely traces of nitrates, which perhaps is one of the reasons this tobacco has a very mild taste, for in all biting, strong tobaccos, I find, invariably, that nitrates are present in considerable proportion. Another and still more important fact is that this tobacco contains so little nicotine. Strong and inferior tobaccos are found to contain much more nicotine, some as high as three or four times as much as I find in this.

On your way down town to-day, try a package of these cigarettes. Smoke them carefully, and then don't ever buy any more-unless you think it would really be a good thing for you to smoke the genuine, pure article. If you prefer drugs and adulterations. you won't like these, and in that case it is hardly worth your while to waste time and money in trying them, but if--; well, that is for you to say.
